37 sections to consider

Amador teachers' proposal set for review

(This is the second of two articles on the contract proposal for 1976-77 presented by the Amador Valley Secondary Educators Association recently. The 70-page document will be reviewed by the Amador school board tonight at the District Educational Center in Pleasanton)

Among the 37 sections in the Amador Valley teachers contract proposal are sections on maintenance of benefits, teaching conditions, certificated employee evaltations and salaries.

Each of the sections lists the requests as determined by the teachers after lengthy inter-group discussions. It is, in affect, their salary and benefits platform.

Teachers are asking an annual adjustment beginning July 1, 1976, to reflect increases in the cost of living, as indicated by the Consumer Price Index for the San Francisco - Oakland Bay Area and computed by the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics as follows; On July 1 of the current year all steps of the salary schedule shall be increased by a factor equal to the Consumer Price Index for March of the current year divided by the CPI for March of the previous year.

If the CPI is unavailable due to revision or delay in reporting by the Bureau of Labor Statistics, according to the contract proposal, the appropriate adjustment to the salary schedule shall be made retroactively to the date specified when the data is available. Adds the teacher proposal, "At no time shall the application of this paragraph be used to reduce any portion of the salary schedule.

The proposal includes well layed out procedures for teacher evaluations which, generally, provide the teacher with more security before and after the evaluation. Procedures for recording and discussing evaluations is also dealt with at length.

Teachers also request that all present benefits be maintained..." the board shall not reduce or eliminate any benefits or professional advantages which were enjoyed by teachers as of the effective date of this (contract) agreement unless otherwise provided by the express terms of this agreement."

Under the section on personal and academic freedom, teachers ask that the board "not inquire into, nor predicate any adverse action upon, a teacher's personal, political and organizational activities or preferences. The board shall not interfere with a teacher's freedom of speech or use of materials in the classroom unless such speech or materials constitutes a clear and present danger to the students of the district."

The proposal asks that "no later than April 15 of the calendar year in which the agteement expires, the board shall meet and negotiate in good faith with the association (AVSEA) on negotiable items. Any agreement reached between the parties shall be reduced to writing and signed by them. Either party may utilize the services of outside consultants to assist in the negotiations.

"The association shall designate six representatives who shall each receive a sufficient number of hours per year of release time without loss of compensation to prepare for and attend negotiations and impasse proceedings. The release time shall begin with the presentation of the contract to the board (this has already been accomplished) and continue for the duration of the negotiations on the contract."

As noted in the initial article on the contract proposal, teachers are seeking a school calendar with 175 teaching days and no work days.

A formal response to the Amador contract proposal is expected in an open session in early April.

Buenas Vidas Youth Ranch

Payoff for work and love

LIVERMORE — Not long ago, the short drive up to the house was so overrun with weeds you couldn't find it.

Now it's once again a curving gravel driveway that begins at the big front gate, sweeps past a sign and a can of bright plastic flowers and ends at the Shattucks' white house.

The neglected Del Valle Sanitarium property, now Buenas Vidas Youth Ranch, is responding to love and determination from the teen - agers who live there and the many Valley residents who have worked on the neglected property.

Orchards are in bloom with the promise of walnuts and pears and almonds next fall. A dozen horses graze peacefully on the hillside, along with sheep and cattle.

There are seven goats, rabbits and even a bad-tempered white turkey sharing the sunshine with troubled youths who find a temporary home with Ruth and Butch Shattuck at the ranch.

Down near the road is a worm farm, soon to be a money - making business for the ranch. And the income will arrive none too soon. The county is allowing Buenas Vidas to inhabit some of the empty buildings that were once part of a tuberculosis sanitarium that closed in the fifties.

But, so far, the county has not come through with any funding for the type of crime - prevention program being carried out there.

Meanwhile, support for the ranch's modest needs comes from a determined group of community members who have formed a board of directors to help set policy and raise money.

Regular rummage sales are expected to provide a steady income. Donations are now being collected (call Vera at 447-4259 or Wilma at 447-8123) for the next sale, to be held 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. April 3 and 4.

Donations small enough to pay for poison - oak remedies or large enough to buy a month's food are eagerly welcomed by the board. Livermore girls Barbie Stevens, who attends Marylin Avenue School, and Anita Rodrigues, a pupil at St. Michael's, raised $25 with a bake sale to make Easter a special occasion at the ranch.

Although hard up for money, the residents of Buenas Vidas are planning community services. Their first project is a "petting zoo" which is almost ready to open. Local schoolchildren will be able to meet Turkey, the white turkey, an uncountable number of rabbits, some goats, sheep and chickens at the new zoo.

Were officials alert?

Eight foot fence fight rages on in Pleasanton

PLEASANTON — Just how thorough are this city's public servants when it comes to following through on a local conflict?

That's one of the questions which has emerged from the continuing saga of the post office's barbed wire fence.

The federal government has installed an eight-foot chain link fence with redwood slats at the new post office on Santa Rita Road and Black Ave. Three strands of barbed wire crown the top. Mayor Robert Philcox and Planning Commission Chairman Walt Wood have made public utterances against the three strands of barbed wire. They say it must go and are not happy that Pleasanton was never told about the fence's design in the first place.

Less publicized has been civic officials' unhappiness over what they think is a lack of parking at the new facility. The old post office has 13 spaces for the public in a facility covering 8,000 square feet.

The new facility covers 30,000 square feet and originally was to have 26 spaces.

Planning commissioners expressed disatisfaction last May about the spaces. Wood told The Times yesterday he thought there should be twice that number of spaces for the public.

In response to the planning commission's request, four more spaces were awarded.

And that's where the communication broke down on parking. Wood told The Times yesterday that he never heard from the staff that the federal government would add four more spaces. And evidently the planning commission did not express further dissatisfaction about the spaces. There appears to be no follow - through on the point.

Planning Director Robert Harris is out of town all week and was not available for comment about the follow - through or lack of it.

The parking issue could loom even larger in the future if the post office continues its drive to cut back home service in the interests of economy. More business people and residents presumably will be driving down to the post office for service, said Wood.

Wood had a few comments on the issue of staff communication and also relations between the city and other levels of government.

A letter - writer to The Times, Melvin D. Clark, had some good questions about these topics, said Wood. He attempted a few answers yesterday.

To Clark's concern about staff communication, Wood thinks that perhaps the public should see what happens to an application from step one to final product. Wood volunteered himself to "walk behind an applicant" through all of the processes involved.

If there are bugs at any place along the line, the planning commission and city council should be informed so they can change things, said Wood. In addition, it would be a good way to dramatize the planning proceeds in the press, said Wood.

Another idea, which is now occurring in a preliminary way, is for the local planning commission to maintain liaison with other levels of government. Wood recently sat in on a meethng which had representatives of Livermore, the Alameda County Planning Commission and planning staff, and the board of supervisors.

It was not a "super planning agency" like Congress of Valley Agencies, but an attempt to have intergovernmental liaison at the planning commission level, said Wood.

Clark also had concern about the security of the postal site. Wood felt that barbed wire is not much of a deterrent, but it does raise the serious question "Has the time come when everyone in Pleasanton has to fence himself in?"

Wood thought that a more sophisticated warning system, like a bell alarm built into the fence, would be more effective as vandal protection.

Clark also asked whether or not Pleasanton is living with outmoded ordinances.

"Not as many as one might think, but maybe we should review our ordinances because of growth limitations coming in," said Wood. "More items are based on our ecology and economics. We have to look at zoning laws as well as ordinances."

Clark asked what actions the planning commission has taken to reduce vandalism.

"Commercial and industrial plans are submitted to the police and fire departments for their recommendations. We have gone into detail in planning review as to what alarm systems and what light systems are used." He emphasized that the post office, as a federal project, was not subject to this detailed review.

Nuclear talk for chamber scheduled here at noon

PLEASANTON — The case for nuclear energy in California will be presented to a Tuesday noon gathering here.

A representative for General Electric's Vallecitos Laboratory — the first peacetime atomic plant in the nation — will speak to a luncheon of the Chamber of Commerce at Pleasanton Hotel. Bob Butler is on staff at Vallecitos, and is well known in several community roles in the Valley.

The Nuclear Initiative appears on the June ballot for voter consideration. It could resrict or eliminate development of nuclear power for domestic uses, in the view of industry spokesmen.

The no-host chamber luncheon is open to the public.

Judge will investigate signs

LIVERMORE — Judge Al Lewis will be making the long, winding trip up Welch Creek soon to determine if, in fact, the East Bay Regional Park District has posted no parking signs in a big lot next to the road near its highest elevation.

Lewis is acting because dozens of valley motorists are being summoned to his court by EBRPD police who have written parking tickets for cars in the lot.

One Pleasanton resident who got a ticket told The Times that he doublechecked the lot last Sunday and found no signs there. But he did see "approximately 30 cars, all with tickets nn their windshields."

The man, Ed Morris, said that "no parking" signs are on the roadway below the lot. Another area says parking is permitted only with regional park parking permits, said Morris. But the controversial lot has no signs at all, he said.

EBRPD officials were not available for comment yesterday.

In Livermore - Pleasanton Municipal Court, where Judge Lewis presides, Clerk - Administrator George Meese, said that two of the parking cases on the calendar yesterday were taken under advisement by Judge Lewis. He wants to inspect the lot personally to see if there are "no parking" signs in it.

There was also confusion about the fact that EBRPD police wrote specific court appearance dates on the citations, said Meese. "EBRPD has been instructed by us to have everyone appear within 15 days of the alleged violation, not give specific court dates," said Meese. He added that a call to EBRPD yesterday should obtain compliance.

"EBRPD police give tickets in many different jurisdictions. Other jurisdictions ask the police to put down specific court dates and so there was some confusion," said Meese.

'Keep eye on holding tanks' Brandes warns city council

PLEASANTON — The city should keep a close eye on what happened to the disposal of holding tank sewage, Councilman Frank Brandes said last night.

Depositions taken in a lawsuit recently from city officials show that the city does not monitor holding tank effluent, Brandes said.

The city should be vigilant because in the past some haulers of holding tank sewage have dumped their cargos in unauthorized areas, said Brandes.

Although the city does not monitor holding tanks, the county health department does that job, said City Manager Bill Edgar.

The county sends copies of its monitor records to the city. Edgar acknowledged that there have been improper dumpings of sewage in the past, but the city was careful to award the local franchise for hauling to Pleasanton Garbage Service.

"We did not feel it was necessary to monitor the records weekly," said Edgar. He added that the reports which cover a few weeks for each period include levels of sewagd in the tanks.

"I didn't bring this up to criticize anyone," said Brandes. "But there doesn't appear to be records to tell if we have a problem or not."

Contract asks arbitration

DUBLIN — Binding arbitration on grievance procedures and a request to make all class sizes more uniform are major points in the 712 page contract proposal presented to Murray School District Trustees last night.

The proposal was reviewed briefly by Rich Piper, of the Teachers' Certificated Employes Council, composed of seven Murray Teachers Association representatives, and two Murray Professional Educators group representatives.

Copies of the document will be available to the public at the district offices on Brighton Avenue.

Piper noted the page for the proposed salary schedule was left open since neither the CEC or district has the data, he believes, to make specific salary requests at this time.

Piper said teachers would expect an equitable scale to reflect the true increase in cost of living and what the distkict can afford.

Purpose of the grievance procedure, according to the proposal, is to secure, "at the lowest possible administrative level, equitable solutions to the problems which may, from time to time arise affecting the welfare or working conditions of teachers." Teachers asked that such proceedings be kept as informal and confidential as possible.

Donation accepted

"A little something for Easter," says Barbie Stevens 9, handing a money - stuffed can to Ruth Shattuck of Buenas Vidas Youth Ranch. Barbie and her friend Anita Rodrigues, 10, recently held a bake sale and raised $25 to help out the youth ranch, which is badly in need of funds. The baking was done by Barbie's mother, Judy Stevens, and her grandma, Doris Breitweiser. Coming up is a big youth ranch fundraiser, a rummage sale to be held on the Arroyo Road ranch (just past the Veterans Hospital) April 3 - 4. Donations may be arranged through Wilma (447-8123) or Vera (447-4259). (Times photo)

Sunset Magazine advises

Plan your bicentennial trip East well

In spite of the anticipated heavy volume of travel to the east coast during the bicentennial year, a trip to that part of the country can be both convenient and enjoyable for people who plan ahead.

Although many of the major bicentennial events will be held during the summer, off-season travelers will find better weather, less crowding and somewhat lower costs during spring and fall, according to Sunset Magazine.

"In general, the less money you elect to spend on transportation, the more time you'll spend getting east and back," Sunset points out.

A family of four can expect to spend $100 for gasoline on a one-way trip and another $245 to $800 for lodging and meals. Camping out along the way can save money, but "don't count on handy sites in the dense Bicentennial corridor from Washington to Boston," Sunset says.

A one-way bus trip for a family of four will cost about $420 in fares and $120 in lodging and meals. First class train fare is about $270 per adult in a private roomette, although coach fares are about $100 less. Air travel costs about $180 to $200 for day coach seats, but airlines offer a wide range of special tours and fares, Sunset says.

"The Bicentennial East offers so much to see — varied scenery, historic sites by the hundreds, unique cultural overtones — that you should begin pinpointing destinations now," Sunset advises. "Guidebooks can give you working knowledge of the area; they vary in quality and many are oriented to special interests, so browse before you buy," the magazine suggests.

Ideally, all accommodations should be reserved before you begin your trip. Many choice rooms have been preempted by package tour operators, others by conventions.

"The temptation is strong to be someplace important on the Fourth of July this year," Sunset says, "but it may be the worst day of all to travel."

While the cross-country trip is long, the attractions of the Bicentennial East are packed into the compact colonial corridor between Boston and Washington. Not counting numerous short and appealing detours, this area is just 440 miles long, or about 60 more than between Los Angeles and San Francisco.

"While the colonial area is dense with attractions, so it is also with people, industry and traffic; you'll find the going slow at times," Sunset says. "Road systems are well developed, though heavily used; commercial transportation — particularly bus and train frequency and urban transit — is markedly better than in many areas of the spread-out West."

Package tours may offer advantages to many travelers. Some are high priced, but they offer expert guide service and first-cabin facilities and amenities.

"The more economical packages can cost less than the same accommodations or services purchased individually as you travel," the magazine says.

One special bit of advice for Westerners concerns the weather. Although the West generally has a lengthy, dry summer, the East does not. The rate of rainfall is steady throughout the year, even a bit heavier in summer. "And when it rains, it really pours," in sudden, powerful thunderstorms followed by clear, dry days," says Sunset.

Bicentennial is time to uncover family history

The candle sticks that you discover when you dig through Aunt Jenny's attic, or the neat clock you find when you explore your mother's basement are all a part of your family history. Maybe the object once belonged to your grandmother or grandfather, or it may even go back three or four generations, with wonderful stories attached.

Some careful information - gathering with these clues may create a picture of what life waslike for your family before automobiles, airplanes, television and radio and all of the other marvels of modern life. The American Revolution Bicentennial Administration has a new booklet that tells how to go about this kind of digging. It's called "Above Ground Archaeology" and you can get a copy by sending 80 cents to Consumer Information Center, Dept. 80, Pueblo, Colorado 81009.

Here's a peek at what's inside:

The best way to keep things straight is to really get organized. Set yourself up a file of 3 x 5 or larger cards and neatly record the information needed to identify and describe the item you want to inventory and catalog.

And, of course, the most exciting records of your family history are photographs. They can provide many hours rich with the warmth of stories of when Granddad was a boy, or the thousands of other tales people are often eager to tell about their roots. Make sure that each print is placed in either a durable album and well identified, or in a marked envelope that can be put in a file drawer or box. And don't ignore the negatives. Unfortuantely, they are often lost through carelessness and neglect, or ruined by poor storage where dampness or dirt can reach them. But, it if they have survived, negatives are the source of fresh prints to replace those that were lost.

The booklet also describes lots of other projects you might get involved in, including researching the history of your town.

"Above Ground Archaeology" is one of over 250 selected Federal consumer publications listed in the "Consumer Information Index." Published quarterly by the Consumer Information Center of the General Services Administration, the Index is available free from Consumer Information Center, Pueblo, Colorado 81009, or at Federal Information Centers throughout the country.

A resplendent work of art, and a lasting commemoration of the Bicentennial is this 36 by 56-inch custom-made rug on display at the Sultan retail store off Pleasanton's Main Street. The heirloom - quality rug, woven in 100 percent nylon, was specially ordered from Alexander Smith Carpets and sells for $100.

Miss Shark has been a Pleasanton resident for nine years, having moved from Washington. She is the daughter of Mrs. B. Annette Shark and has two brothers and a younger sister.

Presidential honors

Joanne in scholarship race

LIVERMORE — Joanne Kienzle, a Granada High senior, is one of just 500 students nationwide being considered as a Presidential Scholar.

The daughter of Bonnie and Henry Kienzle, Joanne lives at 450 Brighton Way. She hopes to study biomedical engineering at Berkeley or Northwestern University.

If Joanne becomes one of the 121 outstanding scholars chosen this April, she'll be invited for an expense - paid visit to Washington, D.C. for several days where the scholars are honored by national officials, scholars and President Gerald Ford.

Students participate in "contemporary history" and visit the memorials and museums of the nation's capital. In previous years, they have met with senators, congressmen, supreme court justices, educators, authors, musicians, scientists and other persons of accomplishment.

They have attended briefings at the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, receptions at the Department of State, panel discussions at the Folger Shakespeare Library, luncheons at the Capitol and symposiums at the Office of Education.

A special Bicentennial schedule of events is planned for 1976 scholars.

Joanne was selected as a finalist through her Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) and American College Testing (ACT) Program scores.

Final selection depends on recommendations, grades, leadership, and other factors. The Commission on Presidential Scholars, composed of private citizens appointed by the President, selects the 121 scholars from the field of 500.

Of the 121 scholars, there will be a young man and a young woman from each of the 50 states, the District of Columbia and Puerto Rico. Two students are chosen from American families living abroad and 15 additional students are selected at large.

There is no cash award given to the scholars.

There have been almost 1,500 Presidential Scholars since the program began in 1964.

Granada high seniors sponsor blood bank

LIVERMORE — Granada High's senior class is sponsoring their second blood bank this year on Thursday, April 8.

Ever since they learned that the blood - donating age has been reduced to 17 (and that the county blood bank is in dire need), GHS students have enthusiastically pitched in to fill the shortage.

Since only a limited number of students will be old enough to give blood, they're counting on local residents to join them in the drive. Donations will be taken from 8:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. in the exercise room of the Granada High School gym.

The painless blood - giving process takes only 15 minutes. The human body reconstitutes the pint of liquid it has lost within 24 hours, and within a few days the red blood cell level is back to normal.

Blood that is collected through the drive will be credited to Granada High for the use of anyone in Livermore who needs it. Requests for blood credits may be directed to Geraldine M. Deck, the school nurse.

Faculty sponsors are Darlene K. Wolfe, Geraldine Deck and Victor A. Pagone. Student chairpersons are Vicki Cutting, Sylviane O'Neill and Jennifer Mumma.

The Alameda - Contra Costa Blood Bank is offering $3,000 in band instruments to the school that collects the most blood this year.

Almost anyone who has not had a blood disease and who is not ill on April 8 is eligible to give blood. Mrs. Deck has details for those who are not sure.

Eating prior to the donation is permitted, but large amounts of milk products and heavy greasy foods should be avoided. Snacks will be available afterwards.

Anyone who wishes to donate should sign up by calling Granada High at 443-5000 as soon as possible.

Loma Alta playground group announces drawing winners

Bill Mitchell of San Francisco won second prize, $25 worth of fresh meat from Pleasanton Foods. Third prize, a buffet luncheon for two at the Pleasanton Hotel, was won by Mrs. J.E. Ward of Pleasanton.

The ticket - selling put $1,417 into the group's fund, swelling the bank account to $1,957.

When the fund reaches $2,500, first improvements to the Loma Alta playground project can be achieved. They include excavation, drainage, concrete curb and sand. The total goal is $5,530, which will add playground equipment.

For more information about the committee and its goals, call Jacquie Oliverius at 462-2643.

Carol Schweig, second from right, receives one of the 100 gallons of free gasoline she won from Jerry's Exxon as first prize in the Loma Alta Playground Action Committee's recent drawing. Jean Bertens, left, and Marisue Archer of the drawing committee smile in congratulation. The drawing raised $1400 which will help finance playground improvements donated by the committee. You're the egg.

We may never know which came first—the chicken or the egg.

But we do know, when it comes to more airline service at Oakland International, the egg has to come first. You're the egg.

The airlines these days are skittish about risking a buck. And you can't blame them. Many are losing money, what with high costs of fuel and double-digit inflation.

They say, if the East Bay wants more service at Oakland International, we should fill up the airplanes we've got. Pretty tough to do when the schedules aren't frequent enough or they stop along the way between Oakland and many important cities. We have to stop in Chicago on the way to New York, or change planes to get to Washington. It makes us eggs fry.

But once you've tried it, you'll find it isn't all that bad. Going to New York, we can land at LaGuardia, which is closer to Manhattan. And changing planes to Washington puts you into National and saves you an hour's bus ride.

So back us up when we say the business is here. We'll help you get there, too. We publish a Flight Selector which shows you schedules to New York and Washington and cities throughout the United States and the world. There are scores of cities without direct service from any airport and Oakland's connections are among the best.

Now, if you'll give it a try, we'll give you a discount on parking. After four days, you pay only $9 for up to a week. At San Francisco, you'll pay at least $17.50 a week in the remote lots and $28 a week in the garage.

And to top it off, you don't have to guess which airline flies where you want to go and how you get there from Oakland International. Just call the Fly Oakland Desk for all the information you need and we'll make your reservations.

Be a good egg.

Berkeley pair to talk here on insect control

LIVERMORE — Two Berkeley environmentalists - entomologists will lecture on "Managing Insects in Urban Vegetation" Wednesday night during a program co-sponsored by the Valley Ecology Center and Alameda County Public Health Services Citizens' Advisory Committee.

The lecturers, Helga and William Olkowski, will speak starting at 7:30 p.m. in the Community Room of the State Savings and Loan Association, 999 E. Stanley Blvd.

The program is free and members of the public, as well as Livermore and Pleasanton council members and the cities' Parks Departments staff, are invited.

The Olkowski's home in Berkeley also serves as the "Integral Urban House" and tours of their backyard gardens are conducted by graduate students at the University of California on Saturdays.

The couple also advise a number of municipalities, including Berkeley, on the development of integrated insect control programs.

It is estimated they save the City of Berkeley about $22,500 a year in labor and pesticide costs with their current program which synthesizes various non - toxic management methods, including biological, microbial, cultural, physical and in some cases, chemical controls.

Helga is the author of "Common Sense Pest Control," a booklet which proved popular in Co-op Stores and with William wrote "The City People's Book of Raising Food."

CC calls tax meeting

LIVERMORE — At the request of an ad hoc committee formed within the Chamber of Commerce to study the revisions proposed for the city's business license tax, a general membership breakfast meeting will be held on Tuesday, March 30, at 8 a.m. at the Holiday Inn.

This meeting will be held in lieu of the regular monthly meeting of the Chamber Board of Directors.

A continental breakfast will be served for $1 and reservations can be made with the Chamber, 447-1606.

A world of wonders

Marcia Keithley left Dublin Chamber of Commerce Directors Ron Pacheco (right) and Don Carlson and Dublin Maid Louise Hodges in awe last week during the grand opening of her Parkway Plaster Craft center in the Alpha Beta Shopping Center. A 13-year resident of the valley, she opened her hobby and art store last year and was inducted into the chamber recently. She not only offers plaster craft figurines ranging from busts to lamps, but also teaches her customers to finish their models in different motifs.

William Olkowski, who will be part of a two-person lecture team on controlling insects on city vegetation Wednesday night, makes his point on an Elm tree specimen.

In addition, each participant's scholastic record and extracurricular activities will be evaluated.

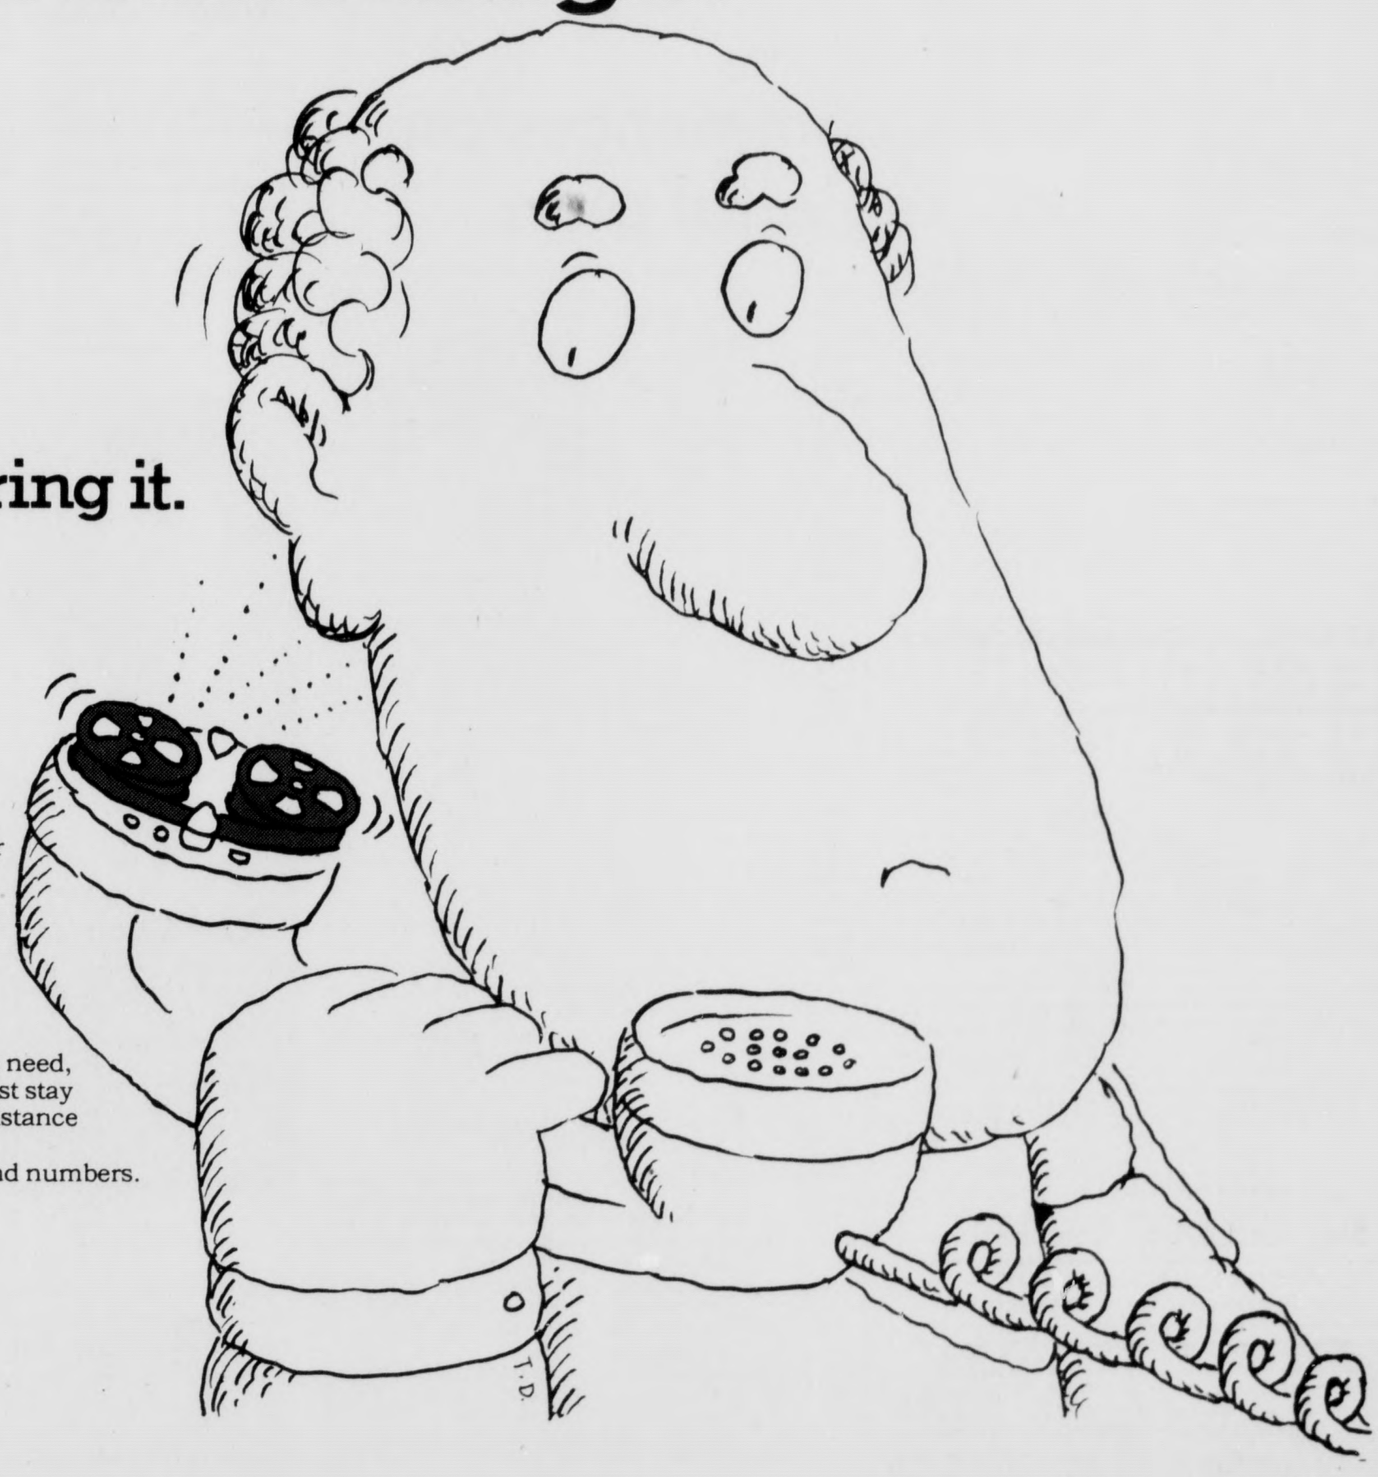
Announcing Pacific Telephone's new recorded message.

And how to avoid hearing it.



Starting soon, when you call Directory Assistance, instead of talking immediately to an Operator, you'll be greeted by a short recording.

It'll take roughly fifteen seconds to remind you that the best way to find phone numbers is to look them up in your phone book.

We're hoping that people—especially those 12% of our customers who make more than half of all Directory Assistance calls—will choose to avoid the recording altogether and use that fifteen seconds to find the number for themselves.

If enough of them do, it'll help cut our unnecessary Directory Assistance costs. And when our costs stay down, so do yours.

Of course, if you can't find the telephone number you need, or it's not in your local directory, we're here to help. So just stay on the line after the recording ends and a Directory Assistance Operator will answer.

Remember, the phone book is the cheapest way to find numbers. And it's the fastest way, too.

So please, skip the recording. Use the book.

Maid of Pleasanton

Initial four enter contest

PLEASANTON — Applications will be available through Friday, April 2 at the Pleasanton Chamber of Commerce on Neal Street for the Maid of Pleasanton '76 Pageant scheduled in May at the Castlewood Country Club.

Young women residing in the Pleasanton-Sunol area who are between 17 and 25 may enter. Those who are now 16 but will be 17 on or before August 1 are also eligible.

The current Maid of Pleasanton, Lori Hickman, went on to win the Maid of Alameda County title and secure the first runnerup spot in the Maid of California Pageant last summer.

Lori is a senior at Amador Valley High School and will relinquish her crown to the winner to be crowned Thursday night, May 6 at Castlewood.

Information on program and admission will be available in the coming weeks.

Four young women have signalled their intentions of seeking the crown worn by Lori.

Returning completed applications Friday were Peggy Holm, Trudi Fadden, Tami Heath and Lynnea Howard.

All four are 17-year-old seniors at local high schools, Tami attending Dublin High and the other three Amador Valley High.

Lynnea is the third member of the same family to take part in the pageant. Lauri Jo took part last year and two years ago Leanne was crowned Maid of Pleasanton.

Standing 5-8 and weighing 130 pounds, Lynne enjoys watercolor painting, snow and water skiing, and most crafts. She hopes to attend either San Jose State or Chabot College and major in art.

Peggy was the first official entry in this year's contest. An ardent reader who also enjoys writing, Peggy also likes water skiing and plans to major in English when she matriculates at Chabot next fall. She is 5-6½ and 120 pounds.

Tami is the first entrant who attends Dublin High. In 1974, a former classmate, Theresa Alexander, won the Maid of Pleasanton title.

Tami also likes to read and water ski. She is at home on the range — cooking — and also sews. The 5-7, 120 pound brown-haired lass hopes to attend Chabot and then transfer to Brigham Young University in Provo, Utah.

Trudi Fadden is another snow and water skier who also likes the fast-paced sport of softball. She is active in Jobs Daughters and wants to be a stewardesr someday. Trudi is 5-3 and 108 pounds.

April 2 is the final day for taking out and returning applications.

Amador awaiting study view

A Western Association of Schools and Colleges panel, which recently completed an accreditation review of Amador Valley High School, has turned in its report to the parent body.

The report of the committee will be certified and a decision as to Amador Valley's accreditation status will be presented in late May.

A seven-member team from the WASC was on campus for three days observing relationships of students, faculty and administration, reviewing curriculum, and physical features of the campus.

The accreditation teams check thoroughly in four areas — administration, instructional staff, student body and classified staff.

Panel members, in comments to the staff before leaving campus, cited the calibre of student at Amador Valley High School and the positive relationship of faculty, students and administration. A friendly, cooperative spirit was noted.

However, the panel said there was a deficiency in landscaping about the campus and a need for greater preventative maintenance and additional classified staff.

Members of the panel taking part in the accreditation review were William Bare, principal at Andrew Hill High in San Jose, chairman; Anita Banning, El Camino High in South San Francisco; James Barnes, a consultant from Napa; Marshall Umpleby, Burlingame teacher; Paul Richert, assistant superintendent of Morgan Hill schools; Dr. Bernard Palmer, San Francisco State, and Michelle Shibuya, student at Hayward High School.

This was the fourth-ever evaluation of Amador Valley High School.

Environmental consensus

Work commences on bay regional plan

Work has begun on a regional plan whose overall objective is to strive for an environmental consensus in the San Francisco Bay Area.

The plan is outlined as an area-wide wastewater management plan in Section 208 of the Federal Water Pollution Control Act Amendments of 1972. On the recommendation of the California State Water Resources Control Board, the federal Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) designated the Association of Bay Area Governments (ABAG) to develop the plan.

According to Pleasanton City Manager Bill Edgar who attended a "208 planning meeting" earlier in the month, ABAG has extended the definition of "208 planning" to encompass the preparation of what it terms the "San Francisco Bay Area Environmental Management Program."

The overall objective of this plan is to strive for environmental consensus in the Bay Area, Edgar explained in a memo to valley officials.

A two-year timetable has been prepared for this program and led Edgar to note, "for those of us who have worked toward this goal for 10 years in the valley, it seems preposterous to expect environmental consensus in the Bay Area in the two-year timetable which has been established for this study."

However, in signing off his memo, Edgar added, "I must say that the thrust of this effort by EPA and ABAG reminds me of a quote from Cardinal Newman: 'Nothing would be done at all if a man waited till he could do it so well that no one could find fault with it.'"

The other six elements — air quality maintenance and management plans for municipal facilities, industrial discharge, non-point source, water conservation reuse and supply, and solid waste — will be integrated and prepared at the regional level, Edgar relayed.

The ABAG-assigned timetable for the locally-prepared surface runoff management plan is to identify problem, organize study, collect data, develop projections and analyze data within the first six months; develop plan, next eight months; intergrate nine county plans, next six months, and receive comments and adopt plan, final four months.

Edgar has been appointed to a subcommittee of the Steering Committee and will help prepare a draft of the work program. That draft will be reviewed by the Steering Committee which consists of representatives of the cities, districts, county and joint powers agencies with interest in wastewater planning.

The Steering Committee will guide the preparation of the surface runoff management plan and the Alameda County Administrator's office will act as the lead agency to contract with ABAG to do the study and coordinate the work, according to Edgar's report.

Redevelopment meeting tonight

PLEASANTON — Citizens Against Redevelopement will meet at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Pleasanton Hotel. Bob Peterson will present a report on the functions of Zone 7 water district. Anyone who wishes to attend is welcome.

Dublin's Jerry Fikes accorded national Pop Warner honors

DUBLIN — Jerry Fikes, son of Tom and Nancy Fikes, has been named to a select national group of 22 boys his age thanks to his scholarship, participation in school activities and ability in Pop Warner League football.

Student body president of Wells Intermediate School in the Murray School District, 13-year-old Jerry learned Monday at noon that he had been accorded the honor.

His younger sister Jennifer, a student at Cronin School, was the nominee of the Tri-Valley Pop Warner League for national cheer-leader honors based on scholarship, ability and participation in school activities, also.

However, she was not old enough to be considered for selection among the seven chosen nationwide.

All members of the Fikes family are active in school and community affairs.

The senior Fikes is on the Tri-Valley Pop Warner League board and is publicity chairman.

Jerry was initially nominated for national selection by his team, the Dublin Knights. During the past season, he played as a running back and linebacker.

Each coach nominates two 13-year-olds and two 14-year-olds for consideration by the league. Officials of the many Pop Warner Leagues throughout the country then go to the schools of the boys nominated to check their grades and participation in activities.

Jerry's name was considered for national recognition and he learned, during an executive council meeting Monday at Wells, of his selection.

Mrs. Fikes notes that there are 957 teams in the three-state western region alone.

After nomination and selection, the boys must answer five of seven questions in essay style in order to receive consideration for nationwide Pop Warner honors — equal to All-American academic status.

The questions give an insight into the youngster's personality and his hopes for the futurd.

Jerry, who is an "A" student like Jennifer, plans to attend Stanford University after graduating from high school.

The 22 boys selected and seven girls (cheerleaders) are now in the running for a $1,000 scholarship which may be applied to their college plans.

Jerry hopes to study Herpatology and has already taken steps in that direction by raising a boa constrictor

'Sayonara' to valley

Japanese students who have resided with valley families for the past month under the auspices of Homestay, bid farewell to their hosts at a "Sayonara" dinner held Saturday night in the Dublin High School cafeteria. Students above were among those presenting a program of native songs and a demonstration of Karate. Students attended classes at Dublin High to improve their English language skills. They left Dublin early Monday and traveled by bus to Los Angeles where they will visit Disneyland before returning to Japan. Their visit here was coordinated by Mrs. Barbara Heimowitz, a teacher at Dublin High.

For Tuesday, March 23, 1976

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Normally you're pretty good at zeroing-in on specific targets, but today you could spread your forces too thin.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Don't delegate responsibilities today to those who can't be relied upon. It could cause you needless problems.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You will have difficulty today in getting one who is indebted to you to ante up, especially if you try pressure tactics.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Your mate and others of your family may have to be handled with extra tact today. Bend a little to keep them pleased.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Don't expect co-workers today to do more than you're prepared to do yourself. Set a poor example, and they'll follow it.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) If you purchase something today from a firm you've never dealt with before, make sure you can return it if necessary.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Make an extra effort to fulfill promises that are now due. Reneging on them could hurt your image.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Don't do anything today against your better judgment just to even-up an old score. It will only complicate the issue.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Sometimes you can be too generous with the wrong people. This may be such a day.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan 19) You could be spending too much time and effort on goals you may be displeased with, once they're attained.

AQUARIUS (Jan 20-Feb. 19) Others may find you hard to understand today because of your reluctance to express what's really disturbing you.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Be highly selective today of persons you associate with. Don't pal around with one who is always stirring up trouble.

A course you'll choose this year may not be an easy one, but you'll know better than anyone else its true values. Don't let others who are unaware of its merits discourage you.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

When your left-hand opponent opens the bidding with one of a suit and his partner passes it is up to you to reopen on the theory that your partner will hold the balance of power. In the situation you don't need 16 points to bid one notrump and South's 14-point notrump was fully justified.

So was North's raise to three and it was up to South to bring the contract home.

He wouldn't have been able to do this if West had decided to play singles (he might well do since his partner had shown a very bad hand) and played out ace-king and 10 of spades, but West made the standard fourth-best lead and South brought home the contract by means of a second hand high play. He went up with dummy's jack of spades. It held and now South was able to finesse in clubs with safety since his queen of spades was a second stopper in the suit.

Ask the Jacobys

A Mississippi reader asks who deals the next hand in a rubber bridge game after a hand is passed out.

The answer is that the deal passes to the player on the left just as if the hand had been bid and played.

Mike Zampa

Outrageous as it sounded, the 12-year old from Pleasanton and her coach, Bill Radley, fully intended to earn a spot in the 200 freestyle against the world's best swimmers.

But the national open championships — at age 12? Preposterous.

That's the way it seemed anyway in the last couple of weeks Time and again Dana attempted to crack the maximum qualifying time established by the AAU for the 200 free. It was a couple of blinks under 1:55. In each instance she failed.

Coach and swimmer had planned to qualify early. That would make for a leisurely training period just prior to the championships. Dana could go into the meet with the physical and emotional juices stored up. She'd need them against a field of former Olympic medal winners headed by Shirley Babashoff.

But the plans went awry.

DANA DAVIDSON

Though she swam in top meets against the best opponents, Dana couldn't drive her time below a lifetime best of 1:55.0. She had already earned a trip to Long Beach with her Norcal Aquatic Club relay team. But it seemed that the dream of an individual race in the AAU nationals was fading.

Then last weekend, in a fast pool at Ohlone College in Fremont, Dana blistered to a 1:53.8 clocking in the 200 free, shattering her own 12-year old American mark for the event and qualifying easily for the national championships.

It was the final weekend swimmers could post times for the AAU meet. It's hard to say whether relief or joy more fully wrapped up the young swimmer and her coach. Certainly both emotions were tugging at the heart.

The question now, just 10 days from the AAU championships, should be; is it right to dump so much pressure on a kid waiting to graduate from grade school?

The week preceding Dana's triumph at Ohlone College was a trying one, says Radley. The frustration of repeated failures at qualifying forced her from the pool in tears on Monday. She balked at Radley's training regimen, which practically wiped freestyle practice from the workout sheet.

"She was so determined to make it that to fail would have been her downfall," he said.

It wouldn't have done much for the coach's stock either. As far as Dana was concerned, Radley's neck was out for tampering with her freestyle work.

"If she had failed I would have felt it was my fault," Radley said. "But if she had worked hard on the freestyle, she would have been stale. I told her not to go fast in workouts. She only did one-fifth the freestyle work she normally does. She balked at that, but she understands now.

"It was a relief to me," Radley said; "because I've blown it with a couple of kids in the past. And it certainly was a relief to Dana."

Pressure for the coach was fine. He's supposed to handle it. But again, was it dangerous for a young girl?

"It's probably not good for other kids off the street," Radley said. "But it was good for Dana. I didn't care whether she made it or not. But she was highly emotional about qualifying. She's happy now, so it worked out well."

The AAU championships get underway April 1. That doesn't give Dana as much prep time as plans called for. But Radley says his swimmer will continue to taper workouts right up until the big day. Dana worked on her butterfly stroke yesterday, but no freestyle.

She won't be allowed in the pool during Norcal's morning workouts until after the nationals. For weeks Radley has tried to enforce the latter rule, but Dana keeps showing up anyway. Now she has orders to stay home and rest.

Undoubtedly Dana will be the youngest freestyler at the meet. She may be the youngest swimmer in any event. The competition will be tough, as it has for Dana the past month. Babashoff and Kim Payton will be the big guns in the 200 free.

Radley isn't discounting the possibility, however, that his swimmer can reach the finals. Dana's 1:53.8 would have cinched a finals berth in the 1973 AAU championships. It would have won the consolation finals.

This year no American woman has dipped under 1:52.

Many top U.S. swimmers have been holding back this year, Radley says; producing times that are surprisingly slow. Perhaps they are peaking slowly for the Olympics.

In any event, it could work to Dana's advantage. She has been worked hard all through the winter. A 12-year old at her peak may be able to sneak up on veteran swimmers who haven't been worked to a keen edge.

But it must also be reassuring to note that even if things don't work out well this year, there's always next year and the year after and...

Cowboys shock Amador

Livermore High took first in 13 of 15 events yesterday in a shocking 93-43 ambush of pre-season EBAL track co-favorite Amador on the Dons oval.

"Some bizarre things happened out there," a confused but elated Cowboy coach Jack Nix said afterward. "This is the first time I can ever remember us beating them on their field."

Outstanding performances by Steve Jens and Victor Aguayo were the key, if any, to the surprisingly lopsided meet.

"Aguayo gets the performance of the week," Nix said. "He really came through for us." The 'Poke junior won the mile and headed a Livermore sweep in the two mile with an excellent winning time of 10:01.1. Steve Sinchak and Steve Lloyd finished behind Aguayo in the two mile.

Injuries plagued both teams. Amador sprinter Mike Croteau was out with a pulled hamstring, while ace distance runner Boyd Tarin of Livermore, although suited up for the meet, didn't run in either the mile or the two mile.

"We brought Boyd here and told him we'd use him if we needed him," Nix said, "but we had a nice cushion when the two mile came around."

Jens won the 220 and finished second in the 100. "We didn't expect Jens to place in the 100," Nix explained, "but he really came along." Jens finished second in the 100 with a 10.5, nosed out by Amador's Mike Mayes, who finished in 10.4.

Mayes, one of Amador's few bright spots, also took the 120 high hurdles and finished third in the 330 low hurdles.

Mike Zampa, editor

Amador's 440 relay team dropped the baton on the last leg, giving Livermore an easy win. "We were lucky," Nix pointed out. "Those were the worst hand-offs we've had all year."

Livermore's mile relay team also won. Hans Aaland, Mike Nagel, John Quimby, and Ken Fordyce finished with a time of 3(40.5.

Kelly Hardiman cleared 6-2 in the high jump, a personal season best for the 'Poke senior.

Mike West set a Patterson Field record by running the 330 low hurdles in 40.3.

Livermore also took the 440 and 880. Fordyce clocked 54.5 in the quarter-mile while Nagel ran an excellent 2:02.5 half - mile.

Other 'Poke victories included Matt Thompson in the pole vault, Wade Andrade in the shot put, Mark Tewes in the discus, and Dean Lindsey in the triple jump as the Pokes finished unusually strong in the field events.

Amador's only other first came in the long jump, where George Haas leaped 20-11 to oust Livermore's Dan Zavala.

The Amador frosh-soph team easily defeated Livermore, 96-41, as Rob Flores took three firsts. Livermore's girls team with Paula Ng copping three firsts, defeating the Dons 56-34.

Wood makes all-East Bay

Ted Wood has been named to the All-East Bay basketball team.

Livermore High School's 6-2 guard is the only EBAL player on the select 10-man squad.

It was announced this morning by the East Bay Prep Writers Association.

Wood, who averaged 21.6 points per game for the Cowboys, joins an impressive field of all-stars including Northern Shavers of Oakland Tech, who was named to the team a year ago.

Shavers was a unanimous choice of the 10-person selection committee. Other players who swept every ballot include Reggie Logan, 6-7 senior forward of Oakland High, Donnie Martin, Castlemont's 6-0 senior guard, 6-5 Mike Ward, a forward from Bishop O'Dowd, Charley Ford, the 6-2 senior forward of Hayward, and College Park's Doug True, a 6-7 senior pivotman.

Rounding out the All-East Bay team are Martin Govain of McClymonds, a 6-3 senior forward, St. Mary's Russell Murrey, a 6-4 center, and John Kochan, the 6-2 senior guard who led Campolindo to a North Coast Section AA championship.

The All-East Bay designation is the latest in a series of awards bestowed on Livermore's Wood. He picked up his second All-EBAL award two weeks ago, and was named to the All-Southern Alameda County team as well.

Wood has been given a full scholarship to St. Mary's College. He was the ninth leading scorer in East Bay basketball this past season.

The leader was Oakland's Reggie Logan. The Wildcats' big scoring machine averaged 26.1 points per game, and shot 51.5 per cent from the floor. He also pulled down an average of 11.5 rebounds in every contest.

True of College Park, perhaps the most heavily recruited Bay Area prep, shot 50.8 per cent from the field this past season. He averaged 22.8 points and 17.7 rebounds per game.

Of all the players selected, Castlemont's Martin could be the best. He averaged 19.3 points per game for the Knight team that won the Oakland Athletic League and Tournament of Champions crown. Martin also pulled down five rebounds per game, and averaged five assists and four steals.

Govain of McClymonds was a 49 per cent shooter from the floor who averaged 23.2 points and 13 rebounds per game.

Kochan led Campolindo to its NCS title by scoring 15 points per game with a 47 per cent shooting mark.

Murrey, St. Mary's 6-4 pivot, averaged 21.8 points per game through the season.

HIGH SCHOOL SENIORS
If you're thinking about a career in aircraft, engineering or mechanics you can do your future employer a favor.
Aircraft, manufacturing and engineering companies are big employers, not only in your area but throughout the country. Jobs in these fields pay well and are available to young, eager, skilled women and men.
The cost to employers to train new people for these positions is very high. Right now, many are having to hold off, to wait for the economy to pick up before they can take on trainees.
But you don't have to wait. You can start your training right after graduation and get paid for it. Here is a program where you can spend a month to a year attending a full time technical school recognized for its excellence by major employers. You can follow this up by working 2 days a month, getting practical on-the-job experience, the kind that really stands out on a resume.
After tech school there are 300 free accredited correspondence courses that you can take to help advance or change your civilian career.
This is the Air Force RESERVE opportunity. It doesn't cost your future employer anything . . . it pays you a minimum $2,000 during your first 12 months

De Anza celebration highlights meeting

Sunday, April 4, occupied the majority of the Livermore Bicentennial Organization (LBO) meeting this week. That's the date of the Anza Expedition celebration in Livermore.

Committee assignments for the celebration were completed and details of the games, ceremonies and beef barbecue were added to at the Wednesday night meeting, held at the Livermore Education Center.

While looking ahead, the LBO agreed to a request by Dick Wright, Community Affairs representative, to take charge of the parade to be held the Fourth of July.

Following the pattern set last year, the parade will be a non-motorized, non-commercial affair for children. It will proceed, starting at noon, from Marylin Avenue School to May Nissen Park, where games will be conducted.

The parade and games are part of a community celebration of the Fourth of July which includes family picnics at the park and a fire works display at Robert Livermore Park, sponsored by the Livermore Jaycees and the city.

In a report on fixing up the Carnegie Building at Carnegie Park, a major project of the LBO in conjunction with other civic organizations, it was noted that planning is proceeding well.

The organization also entertained the idea of perhaps sponsoring a dance on July 3, a Saturday night, as part of the July 4 weekend events. The LBO is to decide whether to go ahead with the idea at its next meeting, April 21.

A special presentation was made Wednesday night by Walt Arnold and Jack Waggoner on the Bicentennial Safari, the planned trip for seventh, eighth and ninth graders this fall to historic sites of the East Coast.

Arnold has visited the schools to promote and explain the program. And his doing so, dressed as Uncle Sam, complete with whiskers, elicited the comment, "Walt has done just an outstanding job."

Taste Barrier Broken.

Struggle to get taste into low tar smoking ends suddenly with new 'Enriched Flavor'™ discovery for 9 mg. tar MERIT.

For years, dependency on tar for taste has created a taste "barrier" for low tar cigarettes.

Now that barrier has been broken.

Broken for good by a remarkable cigarette called MERIT.

MERIT packs 'Enriched Flavor.' A radical new taste discovery so effective at fortifying tobacco with extra flavor that MERIT actually delivers as much—or more—taste than cigarettes having higher tar.

Up to 60% higher tar.

Yet MERIT has only 9 mg. tar. One of the lowest tar levels in smoking today. Lower, in fact, than 98% of all cigarettes sold.

Thousands of smokers were tested. The results were conclusive.

If you smoke, you'll be interested.

Smokers Report MERIT Delivers More Taste

9 mg. tar MERIT was taste-tested against five current leading low tar cigarette brands ranging from 11 mg. to 15 mg. tar.

MERIT and MERIT MENTHOL

Even if the cigarette tested had 60% more tar, a significant majority of all smokers tested reported new 'Enriched Flavor' MERIT delivered more taste.

Repeat: delivered more taste.

In similar tests against 11 mg. to 15 mg. menthol brands, 9 mg. tar MERIT MENTHOL performed strongly too, delivering as much—or more—taste than the higher tar brands tested.

You've been smoking "low tar, good taste" claims long enough. Now smoke the cigarette.

MERIT. Unprecedented flavor at 9 mg. tar.
